COMMENCEMENT WEEK ACTIVITIES ARE MANY.

Rev. C. E. Jameson Gives Baccalaureate Address; Dr. Barnett to Speak Friday Evening.

Commencement Week for the Canyon High School graduating class officially began Sunday with the baccalaureate services at the high school auditorium and fifty-one seniors will end their careers as high school students Friday evening when the commencement exercises will be given.

Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor of the Methodist church delivered the sermon at the baccalaureate services Sunday and Dr. Albert Barnett, of the Department of Education of W. T., will give the principal address tomorrow evening. Miss Nadine Lain will give the valedictory address and Miss Lillabeth Burrough the salutatory address.

The program for the services Sunday was as follows: processional, Mrs. Lee Foster; invocation, Rev. L. R. Hudson; hymn, assembly; scripture reading, Rev. T. F. Charlton; "Lift Thine Eyes," glee club; sermon, Rev. C. E. Jameson; hymn, assembly; benediction, John O'Dowd, minister Church of Christ.

The graduation exercises which take place Friday evening promise to be both simple and beautiful. Mrs. Lee Foster will again give the processional, and Rev. F. T. Charlton will give the invocation followed by a song "Nightfall" by the glee club. Miss Burroughs, salutatorian, will speak to be followed by Miss Lain who will give the valedictory. Miss Leona Vetesk and Miss Celestine McGee will give a piano duet preceeding the main address by Dr. Barnett. Presentation of the class will be by Supt. I. B. Carruth, while Dan F. Sanders, president of the board of trustees, will present the diplomas to the graduates. The benediction will be given by Rev. L. R. Hudson.

Senior Class Night will be held in the high school auditorium Thursday evening, May 19. This program will be presented by the senior class under the direction of the sponsor, Mrs. Edgar Brady.

Taxpayers League Will Hold Meeting Saturday Afternoon

J. W. McCrerey has called a meeting of the Randall County Taxpayers League for Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the court house.

Mr. McCrerey states that several lists for members have been circulated in the county during the past week, and that a large number of signatures have been secured. He is very anxious for a large number to attend the meeting Saturday in order that details of the organization may be completed.

Two Hundred Pass Thru Gate At Park Sunday

Two hundred persons passed thru the gate at the Palo Duro Park Sunday, accerding to the register of Ray V. Davis, custodian.

Out-of-state cities listed as having representatives there included: Muskogee and Custer, Okla.; Des Moines, Iowa; Philadelphia, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; and Memphis, Tenn.

Texas cities listed were: Pampa, Amarillo, Wellington, Canyon, Roxton, Wildorado, San Antonio, Memphis, Floydada, Hereford, Slaughters, Perryton, Texline, McLean, Dalhart, Tulia, Ft. Worth, Wayside, Plainview, Hale Center, and Stratford.

McMurray and A. C. C. Leave T. I. A. A. With Four Members

McMurry College of Abilene and Abilene Christian College have withdrawn from the T. I. A. A. conference to join the Texas Conference. This leaves only four colleges in the old conference, West Texas, Daniel Baker, Sul Ross and Kingsville. Five teachers colleges in East Texas withdrew from the conference last year owing to the large distance separating the institutions.

D. A. Shirley, president of the T. I. A. A., states that probably nothing will be done about the conference until the next regular meeting of the colleges representatives. With only four colleges remaining, it may be necessary to abolish the old conference so that the members may join others which might be more convenient.

Suggestions have been made several times that a Plains and West Texas conference be organized, if the three Abilene colleges would join with W. T. Daniel Baker, Tech, Roswell and probably one or more Oklahoma colleges. Tech has joined the border conference, and since all of the Abilene colleges are now in the Texas Conference, West Texas may be forced to join some other than the T. I. A. A.

Henry M. Mincy Dies At Home Here Thursday

Henry M. Mincy, 64, a pioneer of the Panhandle, died at his home in Canyon Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following an illness of almost a year.

Mr. Mincy had resided in Canyon but a few months, however he came to the Panhandle in an early day, building homes at Wellington and near Groom, where he owned wheat lands.

The body was taken to Wellington for burial. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 3:30 from the First Christian church at Wellington with the Rev. George B. Weems, pastor of the First Christian church of Shamrock in charge.

Mr. Mincy is survived by his wife, Mrs. Willie Mincy of Canyon and four daughters, Mrs. L. H. Holeman, Mrs. W. R. Snapp and Mrs. C. O. Coleman, all of Canyon and Mrs. E. F. Lewis of Wellington.

TIERRA BLANCA PUPILS TO VISIT CARLSBAD CAVERNS

AGED MAN IS DEAD WITHIN A SHORT TIME.

Has Lived in Canyon For Two Years; No Relatives Here; Body is Being Held.

Thomas S. Green, 69, died Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his small home on Eighth Avenue after drinking strychnine.

A few minutes before he died he called to neighbors to come over giving no reason for his request. A physician was called but the man was dead within a short time.

Mr. Green had lived in Canyon about two years and had supported himself by doing odd jobs about the town. He lived in a small house in the 1700 block on Eighth Avenue, and had no relatives living in Canyon. He was born in Shariton County, Mo.

He is survived by a son, P. E. Green of 3109 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles; a daughter, Mrs. M. A. Dowell of Salisburg, Mo.; three brothers, R. P. Green of Amarillo, J. L. Green of Kansas City, Mo., and George Green of Oklahoma, and a sister, Mrs. Florida Sims of Marceline, Mo.

The body is being held at the Griggs-Thompson Funeral Home pending advice from relatives.

ART DEPARTMENT TO HOLD ANNUAL EXHIBIT

The Art Department of the College will hold its annual Student Exhibit in room 206 of the administration building on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, May 26, 27, and 29th.

It will be open to the public from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. with the exception of the noon hour from 12 to 1 o'clock. All students, faculty members and people of the community are cordially invited to come and view some of the best student work ever shown. The painting exhibit wil be especially large as the senior class in the art department is the largest this year in the history of the college.

Big Carnival Announced By Local C. of C.

A big community carnival to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at an early date has been definitely announced.

J. H. Cox, Jr., has been appointed chairman of the general arrangements committee and a meeting of the committee will be held within a few days to begin plans for the carnival.

The proceeds from the carnival will go to the museum building fund.

Economy To Be Theme of News' Cooking School

In accord with conditions prevailing in all parts of the country, ECONOMY will be the central theme of the Canyon News' First Annual Cooking School to be held here June 7, 8, 9, and 10th.

Economy of dollars and cents as well as economy of time and energy will be taught by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, cooking expert, who will conduct the classes of the cooking school. The school will be held at the Legion Hall at 2 o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, June 7, 8, 9, and 10.

"I have incorporated in this year's program the least expensive of foods," writes Mrs. Ihrig. "They will be prepared in an attractive and tasty manner, to show that cost does not always determine health and food value. I have omitted almost entirely the pretty, but costly, salads and desserts. The average American mother today is seeking the best for the least money."

"Wise spending is saving," declares Mrs. Ihrig. Since more than 80 per cent of the income earned in the United States is spent by women, training in spending is as necessary and as important as training in saving. The careless buyer can waste far more money than the careless cook."

Mrs. Ihrig has had years of experience in buying as the purchasing agent of several large hotels. Her knowledge of values and quality will prove of no little worth to the women who attend her lectures.

Summer Outlook Is Fine, Says Pres. J. A. Hill

The outlook for the summer session is very fine, according to a statement made by President J. A. Hill this morning. Many inquiries are being received at all of the offices of the college, and people are coming to Canyon daily to make their living arrangements for the summer.

Real estate men report that there are people looking for rooms and apartments and that the desirable ones are being rapidly taken for the summer months

The College has arranged a program of work even more attractive and comprehensive than usual, adjusting its plans to meet the needs of the present time. Many teachers who already have degrees will come to Canyon this summer to continue their study, some of them working toward the Master's Degree, others following their lines of interest and getting up-to-date methods to be use in their school rooms next year.

It is expected that there will be many students from distant points coming to Canyon to enjoy the cooler climate and outing possibilities of the region.

Three Deer Placed In Palo Duro Are Dead in the Canyon

Three of the eleven deer placed in the Palo Duro canyon two weeks ago by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission were found dead on the J. B. Gamble ranch, states Mr. Gamble. There was nothing to indicate what the cause of their death could be, and Mr. Gamble does not believe that dogs or coyotes were responsible for their death.

Mr. Gamble believes that the deer placed there were too tame for self-protection. He states that the deer have stayed around his headquarters and that the nine-year old doe would come into the house at every opportunity. She was among the three found dead. His dogs paid no attention to the deer, and that the deer and dogs would lie down in the yard and sleep together at nights. Picnicking parties would feed the deer at will, stated Mr. Gamble.

When the deer were being brought to the canyon, one of them died in the truck from exposure. Mr. Gamble believes that possibly the three which died were also the victim of exposure and could not stand this climate after the long truck ride. He is also of the opinion that this variety is not so well suited for this climate.

Mr. Gamble states that he often sees the deer which have been in the canyon for several years, and is of the opinion that they are a much hardier variety than the ones placed there recently.

The people of this section will regret to hear that three of the deer are dead after so short a time.

BUFFALOES TO PLAY W. T. EXES SATURDAY

The West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes will play the W. T. Exes team in a basketball game at the college gymnasium Saturday night beginning at 8:15 according to an announcement made by Coach Burton.

The new national rules will be used in this game and it promises to be interesting.

There will be no admission fee.

Board of Control Members Visit W. T. for Inspection

Adrian Pool, member of the Board of Control, and J. D. Hall, chief of the budget department, visited W. T. on Thursday and made an inspection of the College plant.

President J. A. Hill informed the visitors that no buildings were being asked for at this time, and that the same salary schedule as recommended by the Board to the legislature last year would be the request for the 43rd session of the legislature which convenes in January.

Mr. Pool states that he and Mr. Hall have visited all of the institutions of the state, and are now compiling information for the budget which will be submitted to the Governor for approval, following the new budget law passed by the last session of the legislature.

Radical reductions in state appropriations are predicted by Mr. Pool, both by the Board of Control and the next session of the legislature. He states that no buildings will be approved, and that salaries will be reduced, together with the elimination of every position possible. He expects that the efficiency committee will recommend many consolidations of departments.

Rotary Club Hears Report Delegates to State Meeting

Tom Knighton, Burt Newlin, Harry Brown and Oscar Gano reported Tuesday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club upon their trip to Mineral Wells where the all-Texas convention of Rotarians was held last week.

Commenting upon various talks heard at the meeting, Mr. Brown stated that an Englishman speaker chided Americans because they did not know their national anthem; that whereas gasoline in England was 15 cents per gallon, the tax was 16 cents per gallon; that today the world had too many politicians and too few statesmen. Another speaker called attention to the necessity of building together, instead of tearing down one town, all should grow together for the benefit of all. The best days in business was when your competitor was also doing a big business.

Oscar Gano reported that Rotary had lost only 172 members during the past year; eight clubs had gained in membership, Canyon being among this number.

The resignation of Bill Bryant as a member of the club was received with regret.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Word of Clarendon were in the city Tuesday.

"KNIGHT KLUB" TO BE GIVEN HERE TONITE

PAGEANT IS CLIMAX OF YEAR'S WORK.

Unusual Dances, Beautiful Settings Feature Program Which Shows Talent of Students.

"Knight Klub," a pageant of five parts, will be presented by the women's physical education department with the assistance of Misses Frances Usery and Lois Baber, pianists, Thursday evening at 8:15.

The curtain will open on a scene of a night club, showing two knights who act as ushers and waiters for the guests who frequent the Knight Klub. The club is chartered to a different group each night for five nights. The first night various countries of the world and the political woman of the United States will be entertained at the club. This program will feature two tap routines done by professionals. Its purpose will be to give dances appropriate for the politicians. The mood of the entertainers will correspond with the people who are being entertained.

The "second" night will celebrate the Women's Federated Clubs. These ladies will be favored with a new form, a plastic duo featuring the lovely poem "Trees," written by Joyce Kilmer. The song will be sung by Jean Day, contralto.

The third act, which represents the third night in the Knight Klub, is the story book hour. It represents a children's tea-party. Their program will feature a very surprising child's toe dance. This part of the entertainment will be light and airy, and will appeal to those who are particularly interested in the fantastic. The football banquet is in session during the fourth night at the Knight Klub. The entertainment for the athletes will be peppy and collegiate. "Betty Co-Ed" will be featured, and also "Mascot" which will be a roaring surprise for all. The larger universities, such as Harvard, Princeton and Yale will be represented.

The fifth and last night of the Knight Klub is chartered by the "four hundred," or the elite. For their entertainment, which will naturally be more sophisticated, "The Toilers" by the hoofers will be presented. The final dance, "Goodnight" is one of the most beautiful parts of the entire program.

Miss Jessie Loudder, one of W. T.'s 1931 favorites, will present a novelty number featuring "The Good Old Summertime." This program will be presented entirely by girls with the exception of two outstanding young men in the college. Each entertainment has been worked out to be suitable for the group for which it is prepared. These dancers have been largely

Mrs. W. R. Hext of Canadian Tells History Students of Pioneer Days

Mrs. W. R. Hext of Canadian was a recent interesting visitor in one of the history classes which is conducted by Professor L. F. Sheffy of the West Texas State Teachers College. This class which is made up of advanced students is learning to get historical materials from original sources. Mrs. Hext assisted them by answering the questions which they asked her about her girlhood, her early life in Oklahoma and her life in Hemphill county where she and her family were among the first to begin farming operations.

According to Mrs. Hext, the New England pioneers were not the only ones who worshipped with their guns ready for use should Indians appear. She said, "We lived about seven miles from a place where they would have church. About once a month a circuit rider from Parker County would come and preach to us. William Fletcher lived on the Brazos river at Oaks Crossing and he would send men up there on Saturday evening and guard us to church. They would ride in front with their Winchesters, and we would ride in the wagon. Father would have a gun, too. One day as we were going to church we saw the branches shaking at the side of the road. We stopped to watch, but directly we saw that it was only hogs hunting acorns there. We were glad for we thought it was Indians and that we were going to have a fight.

"While all this excitement was going on we children lay in the bottom of the wagon, covered up with a quilt."

Speaking of the dugouts which were used as homes in early Panhandle days, Mrs. Hext said, "Some of the dugouts were mighty nice. They managed to get lumber and put in walls and they partitioned them off and made fireplaces. . . . We built on white gyp rock. The floor was right white and packed down just like cement.

"You built up your walls and put in windows, and then put riders across them. Willow branches and bear grass were then put on like shingles. Bear grass turns water, and when dirt was put on top of it, the roof would not leak. Beds were built into the dugouts and we gathered grass and made mattresses."

Mrs. Hext also told of seeing antelopes. She had made a 40 mile trip to buy groceries and had stopped on the way to feed her team and eat her lunch. "While I was there," she said, "The antelopes came to water. There were 18 not more than 100 yards from me. They were not afraid then because men had not started killing them."

Mrs. Hext told many interesting anecdotes concerning the life and settlement of Hemphill county. Her experiences will be filed among the documents of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and in years to come will help people to reconstruct a picture of pioneer life of this region.

Fred Scott of Canyon has appeared before Mr. Sheffy's class telling them many incidents of cowboy life; in it hoped that the class will be able to continue gathering similar information which will become increasingly valuable in the years to come.

The kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and the finding of its dead body last Thursday afternoon should spur to activity every citizen of America in the demand that the criminal activities in this country be stopped and completely obliterated. Crime is rampant in America, and the criminal has little to fear. He knows that the chances for capture are slight, and if apprehended, smart lawyers will be able to keep him from trial until whatever little sentiment there may be for his conviction subsides. The criminal predominance in America is a blot upon the so-called civilization of this country. No other nation has so many crimes; no other nation is so lax in the enforcement of its laws, and punishment of crime. The criminals, in complete organization, are able to laugh at the law, and scorn the mandates of society. If ever there was a time for serious America to stop and think, and demand that law should be obeyed, it is now.

Sometimes public officials think that the public should not be informed as to public expenditures, and look upon financial statements published in the newspaper as only a petty graft for the publication. Publication of financial statements, showing the expenditure of all public money is the only safeguard which the public official has. The public reads these statements carefully, and the taxpayer has a right to know where his money is going. The more publicity given to public expenditures, the better off the public official will be and the better satisfied will be the taxpayers. It is pretty safe to say that the officer who does not wish to have his actions, especially the expenditure of money, shown to the public, has something which he wishes to hide.

Just now the taxpayers are very much interested in the reduction of taxes. There is really just one way to remedy the evil of too great a tax burden, and that is the election of people to office who know how and will run the public affairs on an economical basis. The taxpayers have an opportunity to look the candidates over during the campaign. They have no choice after election. Some candidates will make a lot of promises, partly through ignorance, and partly to fool the voter. Study the records of candidates, and then vote as intelligence directs rather than sentiment. The voters will have an opportunity this year to demonstrate whether or not they are really interested in the reduction of tax burdens.

The building fund for the Museum is growing slowly but surely. July 1st has been set as the time when all of the fund must be subscribed and paid in so that the building may start. Citizens all over the Plains are expressing greater interest in the museum and are determined that the raising of funds shall not cease until the building is assured. Many Canyon citizens have made subscriptions to the fund. Every citizen should do his part in this building. It will be the last building that will be erected on the College campus for many years, or until economic conditions very greatly improve. From a civic standpoint, every citizen of Canyon can afford to make a donation, or rather an investment, in this building.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce endorsed the proposal of G. A. F. Parker of Hereford that instead of the state school apportionment being based upon the scholastic census that it be based upon actual school attendance. This is the only equitable method of allotment, and was advocated by the late Supt. S. M. N. Marrs. But East and South Texas, with their thousands of negroes and Mexicans will oppose this method, as they did in the last session of the legislature. The negro and Mexican child draws the same apportionment as does the white child, and then is given little or no school advantages. West Texas has much to accomplish before it is placed on an equitable basis with the rest of the state.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asks that industry generally try the five day per week plan in order to give more men jobs. The plan is good, and is being tried in many plants. It is much better that men have part time labor, in order to support their families, than that unemployment be increased by discharging part of the surplus laborers. Cooperation among employers and employees at this time is very greatly needed and will be of great benefit to both. In the past every time the five day per week plan has been proposed, it was for the purpose of increasing wages. Now it is proposed to keep more men busy.

Speakers at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting called the government system of America the most inefficient and extravagant of all existing systems. If so, why not do away with the system of electing so many county officers and put into effect a county manager plan, which is meeting with such great success in cities. Furthermore, home rule, which allows counties to pass local laws which are needed, rather than refer them to the legislature would be of benefit. The depression is making taxpayers think about their government problems — something that few have taken any time to consider in the past when everyone was busy making money.

Governor Sterling has at last announced his candidacy for re-election. The announcement came only after Senator Clint Small had issued the ultimatum giving him until Sunday to make up his mind. The fight will now be between Sterling and Ferguson. It is not thought that the other candidates will figure in the campaign, but the votes that they do receive will come from Sterling's strength. Ferguson's friends claim that Mrs. Ferguson will receive the nomination in the first primary. Hot times are expected in Texas this summer.

M. H. Wolfe of Dallas is the latest candidate for Governor, on the platform, "Do Right." Mr. Wolfe is a noted churchman and has taken an active part in politics in the past. His entry is not expected to create much change in the political atmosphere, excepting to take a few votes away from Governor Sterling. Of the four or five who will likely go on the ticket with Governor Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson, all will draw from Sterling's support rather than from Mrs. Ferguson's.

Every fire in the state of Texas goes as a charge against all of the policy holders of the state. The community which has an excessive number of fires during the course of a year is penalized above the average of other communities. Watch your fire hazards. Fires do not pay.

A survey of the state auditor shows that the West Texas State Teachers College is the only institution of higher learning in Texas which has a lower appropriation in 1930 than it did in 1920. All of the others have increased very materially.

The support of the Chamber of Commerce is being sought in an appeal made by the officials. This organization is one which merits the consideration of all business houses. No town is able to thrive long without the support of a commercial organization.

Civil War's "Unknown Soldier" Toll 100 Times That of World War

SERVICES honoring the memory of the "unknown soldier" this Memorial Day recall once more the striking contrast between the number of unidentified World War dead and the number in the Civil War.

When the European war fires had died down, nearly 4000 of the 36,931 Americans who had died on the battlefield remained unidentified. Persistent investigation since then, however, has revealed the names and personal histories of all but about 1500.

But when the last Civil War soldier's grave had been filled in, 153,414 remained unknown. One hundred and fifty-three thousand men—out of the 393,714 war slain! Considering, too, that the total of burials included those who had died in hospitals and whose identities were easily established!

The fact that in the Civil War no system was adopted for soldier identifications, of course, accounts for this monumental difference. But there were other reasons.

Civil War troops were kept continually on the march. Since this was difficult or impossible if they were burdened by dead comrades, fresh corpses were flung unceremoniously into hastily-dug pits. Again, searches that were made hurriedly because of troop movements overlooked many badly wounded and dead soldiers who, when found later, could no longer be identified.

Advance scouts and sharpshooters who fell, men wounded or killed in swamps and other such unfortunates out of touch with their regiments likewise accounted for many of the "unknowns."

IT is only within recent years that civilized nations developed an intelligent system for the identification of its war dead. The United States had none during the war with Spain.

When we entered the World War, we took a useful hint from the European combatants. Every officer and every soldier of our expeditionary forces was required by military regulation to wear about his neck two aluminum identification tags. These tags were stamped, in the case of an officer, with his name, rank and regiment, corps or department, and, for an enlisted man, with his name and serial number.

If the wearer was killed, one tag was buried with him, and the other usually attached to the cross planted on his grave. When practicable, a cemetery was established near every battlefield, and each grave was marked with a temporary headboard giving the name and rank of the occupant, with the organization to which he belonged. For this the company officer was made responsible; he was required to furnish the War Department with a sketch map showing the exact location of each grave.

The fact that the number of dead World War soldiers to remain unidentified is so small has proved the merit of this system.

First "Memorial Day" exercises are said to have been held in this plot of Confederate graves in Linwood cemetery, Columbus, Ga., on April 26, 1866, in reverence of the memory of the "unknown soldier."

Reunion Mass Meeting

Held in the court house Saturday evening with Geo. A. Brandon chairman and T. F. Reid, secretary.

The executive committee serving for the past two years, to-wit: Dr. Howell, L. G. Conner, R. W. O'Keefe, J. H. Dunbar, L. T. Lester, A. N. Henson, and Cyrus Eakman through its secretary, A. N. Henson, made its report for the past year and asked for a discharge.

This report shows a total amount received of $1129.40. Total expended, $969.60; leaving a balance of $159.80.

On motion the committee report was approved and the committee discharged with a vote of thanks for its efficient and faithful service. On motion the following citizens were chosen as forming a Reunion committee for this year: Cyrus Eakman, I. L. Hunt, John Knight, J. C. Hunt, Travis Shaw, C. R. Burrow and A. S. Rollins.

The question arising as to what date the reunion would begin on this year it was stated by J. C. Pipkin and others that the regular order of Stonewall Jackson camp was Tuesday before the full moon in July. This will put the Reunion, if held but three days, on July 23, 24, and 25.

As this may be the last Reunion held in Canyon City, the present contract with the Camp expiring, the committee should get together and begin active work with the object in view of making the July Reunion the best one in point of merit and attractions ever held here.

A rookie in the cavalry was told to report to the lieutenant.

"Private Rooney," said the officer, "take my horse down and have him shod."

For three hours the lieutenant waited for his horse. Then, impatiently, he sent for Rooney.

"Private Rooney," he said, "Where is that horse I told you to have shod?"

"Omigosh!" gasped the private, growing pale around the gills, "Omigosh! Did you say SHOD?"

Immigrant Girl Is Prodigy

"This is the way to do it," little Joanna Xenos is saying, and she ought to know. For Joanna, seven-year-old daughter of immigrant parents, is proving to be a child prodigy. In the year she has been attending school in Chicago, Joanna has passed from the first to the eighth grade. She is shown above helping a fellow pupil in the art of writing.

Soviet government has set out to capture the international canning market. They should realize American concerns can't be beat at canning.

Another definition of a modern woman is one who has a vanity case, cigarette case and a divorce case.

BACK OF THE SERVICE

"What's happened to the light?" you exclaim in surprise and consternation when you press a button and nothing happens.

Electric service is so uniformly good, and interruptions so infrequent, the public has taken for granted this high standard of service. Forgotten are the days when interruptions were accepted with resignation as being inevitable; the days when candles were always kept on hand "in case."

Like a man biting a dog, interruption in utility service nowadays is news.

Back of this high standard of service are long years of research and experiments. With high faith in the future of the electrical industry, a determination to bring that service to the highest possible standard, and at a price that would put it within the reach of the humblest pocketbook, advantage has been taken of every improvement in the art of generating and distributing electrical energy.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The services last Sunday were well attended, but we are still expecting more. You are always welcome to attend any of the services. Mothers and fathers, we are urging you to help us teach your children the truths of God's word. Send them to Bible study every Sunday morning at nine forty-five o'clock. We are expecting your children to be there next Sunday.

The subject for Sunday morning will be "A Dead Lion," and for Sunday evening the subject will be "Net Draggers." You will enjoy each of these subjects; in fact, you can not afford to miss either one.

Then the regular services during the week, to which all are cordially invited. Come! where all are friendly.

John O'Dowd, Minister.

L. N. George Says—

The summer school of this year will be unusual in several respects: First, prospects are that we shall have a very large enrollment. Second, people who go to school these times mean business and will likely do a high quality of work. And third, a high percent will be folk of maturity. Supervisors, principals and superintendents, who have heretofore wanted to go away from home, are coming here this summer. This will raise the standard or add to the quality of work of the student body. These people will expect more of their teachers than the average group does. They will expect more of the town also. They live in nice homes and would like to make this a kind of vacation, a recreation to some extent. To do this, they want a place equal to the one which they are leaving and expecting to return to in the fall. This means that nice cool clean apartments will be very much in demand.

As I see it, this summer session will be a challenge to the town and college to pull together as never before and sell the community to the educators of this part of the state.

Attention, Ex-Students

The Alumni banquet is to be held in the Cousins Hall, June 6th. Do you realize just what we are going to do at this banquet? We are not going to tell you. You must come and see. Fight for Chicago Baby Ends

Some time ago Samuel E. Epstein, Chicago city prosecutor, adopted an "abandoned" baby girl after failure of attempts to locate her mother. Then the mother, Agnes McConnell, 23, inset, appeared and filed suit for custody of the child. Epstein, a bachelor, had meanwhile become attached to the child and fought to keep her on grounds her mother couldn't properly care for the baby. A solution satisfactory to all concerned was reached when the court gave custody of the baby to the mother's sister. Epstein is shown above with little Joan Epstein McConnell.

Music Program and Exhibit Presented By Training School

In recognition of National Music Week, the children of the intermediate grades of the Demonstration school entertained their parents and a few invited guests with a program of songs last Thursday afternoon. The program was given under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark. At the conclusion of this feature of the entertainment, the guests were invited to a geography and history exhibit prepared by the children of these grades under the supervision of Miss Jean Moore and a group of student teachers.

In the first part of the afternoon's program, each of the four grades presented a group of from six to ten songs. From the large number of songs which had been a part of their regular classroom work during the past year, the children were given the privilege of selecting the ones they liked best to sing on this occasion. While group singing made up the major part of the program, variety was added with the presentation of several duet and quartet numbers. The charm of the program was due to the agreeable quality of the tones produced and to the apparent ease with which each individual participated.

The walls of the exhibit room presented a pleasing array of maps, graphs, and cartoons which the children had made in connection with their class work in history and geography. It was easy to note this type of work represented unlimited possibilities for making facts and figures more meaningful to the youthful student of world affairs. Originality was clearly evidenced in the display.

After the guests had seen the exhibit, they were served punch and wafers by children from the sixth grade.

D.A.R. of Amarillo Contributes $100 to Museum Building

The Esther McCrory Chapter of the D. A. R., Amarillo is the latest organization to add its contribution to the building fund of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum. $100 was voted at the regular meeting this week. Mrs. E. Gee is regent of the chapter making the gift. Work on the project will begin September first if the money necessary is secured.

CANYON CITY CLUB NEWS

Sunday's dust storm called a halt to the women's tournament; no scores were posted, no champion crowned, unless it would be the champion dust eater. Play has been postponed until May 29.

A few Hereford sharp shooters came to visit the club Sunday and try out the back nine, but were unable to finish the round. Hereford is the club's next match, and they are plenty tough. They won from Plainview 8½ points to 5½ and Plainview defeated the club 9 to 5, it looks like the dope favors Hereford to win Sunday. The match starts at 1:30 o'clock.

Terrill said the dust was so bad Sunday, he couldn't chew gum, on account of gum and sand don't go well together. Advice: chew with mouth closed during dust storm.

Tons of rock have been gathered from the back nine by volunteer workers; the fairways are now ready for the mower.

"Dub Golfers" are the fellows who pay most of the golfing bills; makes golfing possible for the low handicap player; cusses their game all the time; tries hardest and improves least; ache because the course is too hard, yet wouldn't hear to having it made easier; they are never satisfied with their score, yet never expect to get much better—golf wouldn't exist without them—long live the Dubs.

A prospective Club member was heard to ask, "just how long does it take to master that game of golf?"

Alfred Bellah, L. T. Davault, L. H. Donnell and Don Trollinger were admitted to membership at the last meeting of the Board of Directors. O. W. Gano, secretary of the club says there are only eight shares left in the treasury.

Hill Returns from Judging National Oratorical Contest

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the College, returned Sunday from Kansas City, Mo., where he acted as one of the judges in the mid-western zone finals of national semi-finals of the high school oratorical contest in the ninth annual National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution. The contest was held in Convention Hall, Friday, May 13, at 8 p. m.

The winner of the contest was John Jarman of Central High School, Oklahoma City. Phil Bramwell of Belleville High School, Belleville, Kansas was the second place winner and Anne Pickett, representing Sterling High School, Sterling, Nebraska, was the third place winner. The other contestants were Arling Rider of Billings, Montana High School; William Ordway of Amarillo High School; Robert Sheran of Roosevelt High School, Minneapolis, Minnesota; and George Holt of the Devil's Lake, North Dakota High School. The Hon. Harry Woodring, Governor of Kansas, acted as chairman of the occasion. The judges were Dr. J .A. Hill, The Hon. E. F. Lester, Chief Justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court, and Dean Albert K. Heckel of the University of Missouri.

The orators were contestants for the championship of one of six nation-wide zones in the 1932 annual national high school oratorical contest on the Constitution of the United States. Seven contest territories are represented in the zone meeting, Missouri-Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Minnesota, and Montana. Each of the contestants had won the championship of his territory in a series of elimination contests, and, in so doing had received substantial rewards. The winner of the Kansas City contest, John Jarman, will represent this zone in the ninth annual national finals in Washington Saturday night, May 21. All six zone champions, after competing in the national finals, will be given a free trip to Europe this summer as guests of the national contest committee. The national high school oratorical contest is a newspaper contribution toward better citizenship, designed to increase interest in and respect for the basic principles of government. The zone contest was sponsored by the Kansas City Star, while the local contests are sponsored by more than thirty of the leading newspapers of the nation.

While in Kansas City, Dr. Hill was a guest at a banquet in the Muehlbach Hotel given by the staff of the Kansas City Star. Among those present were the three judges of the contest, the Governor of Kansas, and most of the staff members of the Star. Dr. Hill also had the privilege of visiting with C. F. Hall, an ex-student of W. T., who is now the sales manager of the Millermaid Cookware Company of Kansas City. Mr. Hall is a cousin of Guilford Miller, a sophomore in the College.

Teachers' Colleges To Go on Semester Basis Fall of '33

Dr. J. A. Hill returned Thursday from a meeting of the Teachers Board of Regents which was held in Austin on Tuesday. At this meeting officers and instructors for the Teachers Colleges were elected and the Board spent much time in consideration of the budget for the 1933-35 biennial.

Among other items of business attended to at the meeting it was decided that the Teachers Colleges should change to the semester basis beginning in the fall of 1933. The Board voted to insert in each Teacher College catalogue a statement concerning the giving of bad checks by teacher college students. If such checks are not made good within a period of ten days, the student will be dropped from the college rolls and he can give no more checks in payment of indebtedness to the college. Post dated checks can not be accepted by the college officials.

The Teachers College Board decided to hold its regular August meeting at Canyon. Four of the nine members never having been on the campus here. They will spend two days and will bring their wives with them, combining business and pleasure.

Brides Will "Cotton To" 1932 Styles

PRACTICAL YET ULTRA-SMART ARE NEW SHEER ORGANDIES FOR BRIDES, AND WHITE PIQUE GOWNS FOR BRIDESMAIDS

BY HARRIET

IT is a great year for cotton.

Even brides, bridesmaids and sweet girl graduates are all considering cotton fabrics as possibilities for their charming dresses.

No reason why they shouldn't. Some of the new sheer organdies and nets make exquisite frocks. And as for bridesmaid's dresses, one of the most fashionable weddings in New York used white pique, with tailored jackets and waistcoat effect of gay colored ribbons. Topped by a tailored floppy hat of pique, banded in the ribbon, these dresses were too smart for words. And practical.

Bridal gowns this year are made all kinds of ways. But the sleeves are the focal point. They can be as decorative as you please, as full, as elaborate. They can be of lace, or embroidery, or shirred and corded net or of the frock's material.

A SWEET bridal gown that is being shown is made of the sheerest white organdie and cotton net. The gown is princess in line, with a double-bolero effect of the organdie, all bound by hand, pointing up to a V-neckline.

The sleeves are very finely tucked organdie to a tight upper sleeve and then all that fullness flaring out to make a huge puff that comes into a tight cuff that the gloves slip over

The veil is made of cotton net, with a little lace cap to hold it in place, the net very long and formal looking, just the way expensive real lace and chiffon veils fall.

For the bridesmaid, there is a tailored new novelty pique, one made with a lacy stripe. This is essentially an informal little evening dress, when the jacket comes off. For it has a bright ribbon crossing, making a waistcoat effect that is removable and can be taken off when the dress needs rubbing.

The dress itself fastens down the back, at one side, way over on the hip. It is a wrap-around dress, which merely unbuttons and comes off, but is cut so that no one would know it is a wrap-around.

Princess in line is the bridal gown of sheer white organdie and cotton net shown at left. Note the double-bolero effect of the organdie, and the sleeves flaring from a tight upper sleeve of finely tucked organdie to a huge puff at the elbow and into a tight cuff. The veil, held in place by a lace cap, is of cotton net. At right is a tailored new novelty pique, with lacy stripes, for the bridesmaid. The jacket is removable, to make a wrap-around evening dress.

The little jacket is tailored, fitted and cutaway, giving a smart, evening look to it. The sleeves flare neatly at wrist length. And a single good-looking button holds it in place over the colorful ribbon touch on the dress.

This same dress can be made of white linen, but of course linen musses more easily than pique. For resort wear, after the wedding, or if you are going on a cruise, this pique evening dress will see you through many a party and come home looking like new.

These contributions were made through the leadership of the Student Council, of which Alvin Ream is president, and the senior class which is headed by S. B. Whittenburg.

J. Frank Dobe Tells Need of Museum Building at Once

(By J. Frank Dobe)

I sometimes think that Texans talk more about their glorious history and show less care for it than any other people in the nation. Louisiana on the east, Oklahoma on the north, New Mexico on the west all have museums in which may be seen the forms of civilization and the ways of life that have been within the confines of those states. The great state of Texas, with the most dramatic, varied, interesting, and individual history—I pick my adjectives deliberately—of any state in the Union has never built a museum in which may be represented to the eye and preserved for the instruction and edification of generations to come the expressions of that history. A museum is visible history.

However the state of Texas has appropriated a modest sum of money for a museum for a vast section of West Texas, provided the citizens of that section raise an equal amount. The Texans on the High Plains are almost a distinct people; they have a distinct tradition in which prehistoric animals and prehistoric races, as well as the great Comanche nation together with other Plains Indians, played a part that history will never forget.

The first expedition made by white men into the territory of what is now the United States and one of the most extraordinary expeditions of all times and places—Coronado's Expedition—crossed the Plains of the Texas Panhandle and its men were awed alike by the abysmal Palo Duro Canyon and the unending stretch of prairies. Here in this region Coronado's men saw buffaloes, which were destined to give rise to an occupation unlike anything that the world had ever seen or can ever see again and to a type of men, the buffalo hunters, differing from all other types. Here, too, the explorers very likely left a few seed that with seed left elsewhere were to dot the plains with mustangs.

In time the buffaloes were all killed, the Comanches were penned, the mustangs were "walked down," and it was a land of cows and cowmen—on horses. Before Texas was a republic English-speaking Texans were ranching over close to the Louisiana line and Mexican vaqueros were herding "manadas" of horses and branding with strange symbols the calves of longhorned cows for Spanish hodalgos on the north bank of the Rio Bravo. The Chisholm Trail was dusty with Texas herds twenty years before Charlie Goodnight drove 10,000 head of buffaloes out of the Palo Duro Canyon and established a line camp to keep them out and hold back the herd of 1700 cattle he had just brought to the Panhandle. But despite the antiquity of the cattle industry and despite its already established importance in other sections of Texas, in the Plains country it assumed an amplitude and developed characteristics corresponding to the individuality of the land that made the Plains ranching different from ranching anywhere else.

Time has passed and oil booms, automobiles, airplanes, radios, and chain stores have made nearly everything else pass. The cotton fields of the plains country have turned fields of the black waxy belt of Central Texas into pastures and upset the markets of the world. The wheat fields of the plains have grown so much wheat that men who burned buffalo chips for fuel have lived to boil coffee over a fire of smouldering four-bit wheat.

But the old T-Anchor Ranch with its connotations and memories still remains. The Palo Duro still cuts the Llano Estacado athwart as if forked lightning had laid itself down horizontally and burned the brand of ages into the flanks of the cow world.

Plainsmen have bored oil wells deeper than the bottom of the deepest canyon to pump out the black gold. They have killed off nearly all the friendly little prairie dogs in order ot save grass for white faces and make room for furrowed wheat. It is true that oil has gone down and that the laws against selling it even at a dime a barrel are more strictly enforced than the laws against selling plain corn whisky at two and a half dollars a pint. It is true that wheat is nearly as cheap as buffalo chips used to be.

Are there not enough true plainsmen left in the great Panhandle of Texas to raise $25,000 to help build the only museum that the whole state of Texas has ever taken a hand in? What a history there is to depict in that museum! What instruction and pleasure it might afford to hundreds of thousands of children as well as to grown people! What pride will citizens, as they have already shown, take in adding to its riches! If the Plains of Texas do not raise $25,000 to erect this museum, then what the word "plainsman" stands for must be as extinct as the three-toed horse found embedded under the surface of ranges that gave to that word a significance and meaning destined to quicken imaginations so long as the English language lives. "Out on the Staked Plains," "A Texas Plainsman," "Up in the Texas Panhandle, "Cowboy of the Plains," "The Great Plains," "The Plains Indians," "A ranch on the Plains." Such phrases call up a wealth of history and human experience. They mean something. The vast region they refer to has harbored a life individual and highly flavored. And now this region has a chance to erect a museum in which that life can be fully represented. Nowhere in the world is there a museum devoted to the plains. The one place in the world where that museum should be is on the Texas Plains themselves. Now is the time for Plains civilization to show its "quality."

We are through listening to or talking about the depression.
We are not interested in the difficulties of the past.
We shall concentrate on constructive work.
Nothing can be gained by crying on other people's shoulders.
We will do something.
In our daily work, we will dwell on what we can do, and pay no attention to what we can not do.
Every man and woman in our organization will continuously spread sunshine, and say something where possible that will annihilate gloom.
When anybody persists in dwelling on the past, we shall say, Well, is it going to do any good to talk about that?
Let's see what we can do to accomplish something. What plans have you to show some progress.
We will forever do what we can to create good will, confidence and courage.
We believe in ours, in ourselves, and our ability to do things as they should be done.

"There's a Death Message for This Man,

we must catch him when he comes through here"

His mother had died suddenly. His family was perplexed about notifying him, for he was "somewhere on the way to California." Just where, nobody knew.

They did know, however, he was motoring over a route selected by the Conoco Travel Bureau. So the death message was wired to Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was on that route.

The Continental office set every Conoco station attendant in Albuquerque looking for the traveler. All day Conoco men asked motorists their names. And finally the right man was found, the message delivered to him. An unusual incident. Just one of many out-of-the-ordinary happenings, however, that have earned a Nation-wide reputation for the Conoco Travel Bureau and its services.

We do more than furnish road maps, help choose routes and supply other travel information. We look upon every Conoco Passport holder as a personal friend to be served in every way possible. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco attendant is the traveler's well-informed friend.

If you are planning a motor trip, write us where and when you want to go. Or fill in convenient application at any Conoco station. We will send you a Conoco Passport, 1932 road maps and other travel information. Our service is absolutely free . . . maintained for the benefiit of American motorists by Continental.

Madrigal Concert Is High Spot of Lyceum Course

A new type of program meriting a place with the already long list of outstanding attractions which have been sponsored by the College Lyceum Course was heard by students and visitors of the College on Tuesday, May 17. The occasion was the second annual concert of the College Madrigal Club under the direction of Mr. D. A. Clippinger of Chicago, founder and for many years conductor of the Chicago Madrigal Club.

The program opened with representative early 16th and 17th century madrigals including works of Arcadelt, Lassus, Lefevre, Morley, Palestrina, and Purcell. English and Modern compositions made up the last part of the program. Several of the latter were prize winning arrangements of the competition for madrigal writing sponsored by the Chicago Madrigal Club during its long period of existence under Mr. Clippinger's direction. The feature of the program was an address by Mr. Clippinger on "Madrigal and Madrigal Singing." Mr. Clippinger has the enviable reputation of being perhaps the foremost American Madrigal authority. His citing of the development of the madrigals and the singing of them, and his appeal for a renewed interest in this great type of music was inspiring and enlightening to his listeners. Mr. Clippinger expressed himself as being in sympathy with the teacher, and in commending the efforts of the local society pleaded for greater interest in the performing of music as well as in the listening.

The program reached an unusual perfection of performance for a student group, the personnel being made up of students and other local music lovers. The entire concert was performed with dignity and color, and the interpretation had authority and clarity of true madrigal singing. The tone lines were smoothly woven, the attacks were neat, and the sure intonation reflected that the singers had acquired a familiarity with the complexities of these works and a rather sensitive understanding of the varying themes.

A large audience gave evidence of its appreciation of the performance, and by its hearty applause seemed to revel in this relatively unexplored field of musical art. The responsive spirit of the audience was of significance along with the performance and gave much stimulus to future efforts of the club.

The College Madrigal Club is the outstanding capella club in the entire southwest, and perhaps the only purely madrigal organization. It has been in existence for many years but only recently has come to function in its annual concerts. It is noteworthy that this organization has had the privilege of having Mr. Clippinger for its guest conductor. New impetus was added this year when upon the disbanding of the Chicago Madrigal Club its library, the largest and most selective in the country, was secured by the local club. The progress and development of this organization is due to its local conductor, Mr. Wallace R. Clark, head of the Music Department, W. T. S. T. C., and himself an authority on madrigal music. To Mr. Clark rests credit for the entire preparation of the club for the concert and his success is attested by the praise of its hearers.

W. T. Senior Play To Be Presented Tuesday Night

The college senior play to be presented next Tuesday evening will open the round of commencement events. The play is presented by the senior class, assisted by the Panhandle Players. Miss Mary Morgan Brown, head of the speech department, is directing it with Mrs. Cleatice Crump and Miss Farris Sears as assistants and with Charles Donnell as technical director.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," by St. John Ervine is the play. It is a light comedy in four acts. It is a brilliant slightly satrical English play, sparkling with wit and giving every member of the cast a chance with some good lines. Miss Wilmoth Gamble, a senior, has the laeding role, that of the tempermental actress. Further special interest is added to the play by the fact that Cleatice Crump, assistant football coach, has a prominent part in the play. The cast is as follows:
